

Washington Recall

The ISSC was advised today of the following closure and recall.

The afternoon of 10/13 we were notified by City of Hoquiam Wastewater Treatment Plant that the lagoon where they were storing wastewater overflowed due to rain on 10/10 and continued to flow until yesterday afternoon when the plant went back online. We immediately placed the Central Bay portion of the Grays Harbor growing area in closed status and contacted the shellfish companies with harvest sites in the closed area. We are recalling all shellfish harvested from the Central Bay portion of the Grays Harbor growing area that was harvested between 12 a.m. 10/11 until the closure at 1:35 p.m. on 10/13. The recall involves one company: Coast Seafoods Company, WA-0006-SP.

Some of this product made its way to Oregon and Texas but is in the process of being destroyed. It is our understanding that Coast Seafood Company has already contacted its customers involved in the following states:

- Oregon
- Texas

For more information contact:

Laura Wigand Johnson
Manager, Shellfish Licensing and Certification Section
Office of Environmental Health and Safety
Division of Environmental Public Health
Washington State Department of Health
PO Box 47824
Olympia, WA 98504-7824
Laura.Johnson@doh.wa.gov
360-236-3333